MY promise

Business and branding are somethings which have held a place in my heart for many years.

Photography is such an important part of any business, and makes your business come to life. That's where I come in.

I want to hear the inspiration behind your brand, and we will work together to capture it to it's full potential and connect to your dream customer.

PRODUCT SHOOT

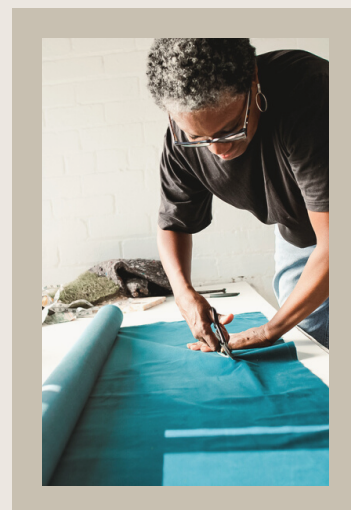

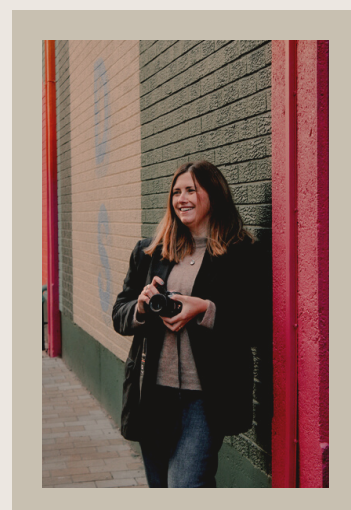

If you are after some images of the products you sell, then this one is for you. You can send me your products, and I will shoot them at my studio and return them to you. Price is based on an hour shooting.
~ From £175

Headshots

In Studio or on location, getting images of yourself is so important to increase the trust with your potential customers. This quick 1 hour session is perfect if you are needing a freshen up of your website or new content for your social media. You will receive all of your images fully edited and in an online gallery for you to download and use to your hearts consent.

~ From £175

Lifestyle and Products

Studies on branding photography have shown that when a consumer views a product in a lifestyle shot they are more likely to buy it. They are also more likely to buy into your business if they can see who their money is going to. That's you!

Whether you want your products shot in real environments or you want to show the process behind the products. 2 hours shooting will get you all you need.

~ From £295

Half day on location lifestyle and product

Take your images to the next level with an on location shoot for your products. Whether it be the woods, the moors, or in your studio/office. Lets get creative!

As well as the lifestyle shots, we will also get 'detais' shots. These are close ups of your process and products. This gives you so much content for your social media pages, and your website.

~ From £575

SOCIAL MEDIA MANAGEMENT

Social Media is quickly becoming a minefield. With the ever changing algorithm it is becoming increasingly harder for small businesses to get their content seen by their dream clients. I will plan and post your content and use your insight analytics to increase your following and sales. We will have monthly meetings to discuss the progress and goals of your business so that we have clear aims to allow your brand to fly!

THE NEXT STEPS?

Now that you know everything that I can offer you, take some time to work out which package works best for you.

Send me a message with the desired package and some dates which work best for you.

Flexible payment plans can also be available should you need.

Once we have a date confirmed, I will send you some more information on how to make the most of your session. We can arrange an either in person or video call to chat about your business and what you're wanting to get out of our time together. I will then create a shot list to make sure that the shoot runs smoothly and we don't miss any details.
